BANGALORE,
29*th April* 1908

A. RANGASWAMI IYENGAR,
Revenue Commissioner.

The following article on "A Valuable Famine Food" extracted from the Indian Trade Journal of the 19th March 1908, is published for the information of the public :—

"In a country so liable to the visitations of famine as India undoubtedly is, the question of suitable famine foods on which very large numbers of people might in comparative comfort tide over a lean year is a matter of some importance. It is true that practically all the edible products of this country have been examined in a more or less general way from time to time with an eye to their food value : but in the light of the more accurate information regarding agricultural matters which has been gleaned in recent years, several of those products appear to be deserving of special attention. One of these is INDIGOFERA GLANDULOSA, which is known under a variety of Vernacular names, such as Zinjroo, Befri and many others. In plain language, it is nothing more important than a wild indigo plant, and it flourishes in more or less profusion as an annual in many parts of India, often as a weed on very poor land.

Besides being cheap, the seeds are very nutritious, and, in some parts of India, particularly among Bhills, are used for food ; but being too rich to eat alone, are usually mixed with other grains. The seeds are dark green, small, roughly spherical, mottled with black, and have the appearance of miniature plover's eggs. They are very hard, have a bright yellow kernel, and a characterestic hottish taste. The plant is harvested in the same way as maize, cut, stacked dried, threshed and winnowed. The seeds are then ground into flour, mixed with other ingredients and made into bread, which is somewhat bitter but could no doubt with the exercise of a little ingenuity, be made palatable, or even appetising. In Berar, and probably in other parts of India, the seed is eaten raw, and is there known as BARBATI or JUNGLI-METHI.

As we have already said, INDIGOFERA GLANDULOSA is a highly nutritious food. In AGRICULTURAL LEDGER No. 84, which deals with famine foods, Dr. D. Noel-Paton and Dr. J. C. Dunlop, by whom it was compiled, state that the seed contains no less than 36 per cent of proteid, or three times more than is found on average cereals. They give the following analysis by Professor Church, which, they explain, corresponds closely with theirs, except that they find the proteid value somewhat higher and the carbohydrate value correspondingly less :—

Water ...	8·2
Albuminoids ...	31·9
Carbohydrates ...	46·7
Oil ...	2·2
Fibre ...	7·8
Ash ...	3·2
Total ...	100·0

What is also of importance is that they find that the proteids are as fully digested as those of wheat. In the analysis just given, it will be noticed that the percentage of albuminoids is 31·9 ; in Indian wheat the percentage is only 13·5. With oatmeal the seeds of INDIGOFERA GLANDULOSA also compare very favourably, being 32 per cent more nutritious. In another table dealing with the relative digestibility of wheat and I. Glandulosa, Dr. Noel-Paton furnishes the following particulars :—

	Proteids		Carbohydrates
	Percent in food	Percent digested	Percent in food	Percent digested
Wheat	10·18	84	71·0	45
Indigo Glandulosa	36·12	83	38·75	28

From this analysis it was deduced by a further experiment that the available proteids and carbohydrates in 100 parts of the products named would be :—

	Products.	Carbohydrates.
Wheat	8·5	31·9
I. Glandulosa	29·9	10·9

The relative available energy of the two products are calculated from the above table as follows :—

Wheat	166
I. Glandulosa	167

So that in the matter of energy both wheat and I. Glandulosa may be regarded as equal, a fact that forcibly illustrates the food value of the latter.

Now it has been ascertained that the excessive use of a single cereal seems to lower its digestibility. For instance, Dr. Dunlop found, when investigating the feeding of prisoners in Scottish prisons, that when oatmeal was used in moderate amount, it was readily digested ; but, when moderation was exceeded, digestibility was greatly reduced. This seems to apply with special force to I. Glandulosa. It is singular among Indian foods in being too rich to be eaten alone, and this factor is probably sufficient to account for the allegations that it causes discomfort. But it supplies precisely that element which is in most defect in the diet of most Indian peoples, and it would be invaluable if mixed with poor grains such as rice, in which carbohydrates so greatly preponderate. A specific case of its value as a mixed diet is furnished in para 118 of the Report on the Administration of Baroda State for the year 1901, wherein it is stated that, acting on the suggestion of the Chief Medical Officer, the Famine Commissioner gave it a trial in the Singad Poor-house, with the result that the four adults and four children who were fed on it soon began to put on flesh.

These facts would seem to establish beyond doubt its value in times of scarcity and as such it deserves a wide distribution throughout what may be called the "Famine Zone," more particularly if, like some better known species of INDIGOFERA, the plant can be profitably used as a green manure in a good season. Strange as it may appear, there does not seem to have ever been any systematic cultivation even on a small scale, of this interesting product. Perhaps the perusal of this article may induce some Director of Agriculture to remove this reproach, so that it may be definitely ascertained how far the plant responds to intensive cultivation, and what are the best conditions of growth and the normal yield of seed per acre. Without such data, it would be idle to speculate whether Indigofera Glandulosa deserves to be regarded as something more than a famine food."

BANGALORE,

A. RANGASWAMI IYENGAR,
Revenue Commissioner.

Notification No. G. 6367—G. M. 276-07-2, dated 2nd May 1908.

The following Resolution No. 3252—3288-3, dated 27th March 1908, of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, regarding the limitation of Telegraph work on Sundays, is hereby published for general information.

By Order,
K MYLAR RAO,
For Secy. to Govt., Gen & Rev. Depts.

No. 3252—3288-3.

TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

Calcutta, the 27th March 1908.

The Government of India have had under their consideration an important recommendation made by the Telegraph Committee regarding the limitation of Telegraph work on Sundays. A Telegraph operator has at present to work regularly on Sundays as part of the ordinary routine of his service, and this liability to Sunday work is felt by the staff to be a substantial hardship. The Government of India are of opinion that the grievance is a real one, and although it is one which cannot be altogether removed, they are anxious to do what is possible to limit its extent. The interest which the public have shown in matters affecting the well-being of the Telegraph staff, leads Government to believe that they will willingly co-operate in any reasonable measure to ameliorate the conditions of service in the Telegraph Department.

2. Telegraph Offices are divided into three classes, first class offices which are open always, second class offices which are open for about fourteen hours, usually from 7 to 21, and third class offices which are open for seven or eight hours only. At present on Sundays and the four chief holidays, Christmas day, New Year's day, Good Friday and King's Birthday, all first class offices are open as on week days; second class offices are usually open for two hours in the morning and five in the afternoon, and third class offices for two hours in the morning and two in the afternoon. The Telegraph Committee were of opinion that while first class offices should remain open from 0 hours to 0 hours, as at present, the working hours of second and third class offices might be considerably restricted. In particular they recommended that in places where there is more than one office, all offices other than the principal one should be entirely closed on Sundays and holidays.

3. The Government of India have ascertained that in the United Kingdom a considerable number of offices are open on Sundays, only for one hour in the morning, and the very great majority only for two hours in the morning. Offices are also open for one hour in the evening, and only the most important offices are open throughout the day. It is the recognized practice, moreover, to keep open only the chief offices in towns where there is more than one office. Although the Government of India are not prepared to adopt the English practice in its entirety, they nevertheless consider that it would be desirable that the existing Sunday hours in Indian Telegraph offices should, if possible, be reduced. The following detailed proposals to effect this purpose have been tentatively put forward by the Telegraph Department and the Post Office:—

(1) That in places where there is more than one office, all offices except the principal one should ordinarily be closed; but that, in the case of a few of the largest towns, one or two of the minor offices which serve outlying localities should also be open for short periods.

(2) That first class offices should remain open from 0 hours to 0 hours as at present except when the office is in a place where there is more than one office and is not itself the principal office.

(3) That in places where there is only one office, and the office ordinarily observes second class hours or in places where there is more than one office and the principal office observes second class hours, it should be open in all cases for two hours in the morning (7 to 9) and in the case of the more important offices also for two hours in the evening (16 to 18).

(4) That in places where there is only one office, the office, if it ordinarily observes third class hours, should be open for two hours only in the morning (7 to 9), and this period should be reduced to one hour in cases where experience shows that this further limitation is possible.

The Government of India, before issuing any orders on the subject, desire that the public, who will be affected by the change in the working hours, should have an opportunity of expressing their opinion.

4. The restriction of the hours of working of second and third class offices would substantially diminish the Sunday work of the Telegraph staff, but a further recommendation has been made by the Telegraph Committee, viz., that on Sundays and holidays inland telegrams at the lowest rates, at present known as deferred, should not be accepted for transmission. Telegraph offices are kept open on Sundays because both in public and private business, questions arise which do not admit of delay and important interests would suffer if the Telegraph Service were not available. But it may be argued that it is not unreasonable that any person wishing to send a telegram on a Sunday should be called upon to guarantee the urgency of his business by paying the higher rates. The less urgent messages being eliminated, the volume of traffic would be very greatly reduced, and the staff would secure a substantial measure of relief.

5. The Government of India will finally consider the proposals enumerated in this Resolution at the end of the first week in May. They will be glad to receive before that date any representation on the subject which local Governments, public bodies, or private persons may desire to make.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations, to all Chambers of Commerce and Trades Association and to all departments of the Government of India. Ordered also that a copy be published in the Gazette of India.

THE WEAVING COMPETITIONS IN MADRAS.

Merits of the various looms.

During the last week of February and the first week of March a Weaving Competition was held in Madras with the object of procuring definite data regarding the performances of the various types of hand-loom which are now offered to the Indian weaver. The response to the invitations to compete was very satisfactory, and every type of Indian made hand-loom that has been brought forward during the last few years was entered by those interested in its development to show what it was capable of. Fifty-one looms actually started work on the first day of the competition, all belonging to one or other of the following classes:—

1. Indigenous hand-looms.
2. Do. fitted with the fly-shuttle slay.
3. European hand-looms.
4. The Sayaji Cottage Loom, invented by Rao Bahadur Raoji B. Patel.
5. The Triumph Loom of the Salvation Army.
6. The Japanese Loom, as manufactured in Belgaum.
7. The New Ahmednagar Loom invented by Mr. D. C. Churchill.

The competition did not, however, attract any of the imported looms which have recently been widely advertised as suited to Indian requirements. These looms are light power-looms which can be driven by hand, but experience seems to show that they are too heavy for the Indian weaver, who is usually a man of poor physique.

Terms of the Competitions.

The competitions were divided into two sections and in each section there were five classes. The first section was for indigenous hand-looms only, as it was recognised that it would be unfair to ask them to compete against the improved looms. They might have been left out altogether, but it was considered desirable to ascertain what work could be done on such looms under similar conditions to those under which the improved looms were worked. Data would thus be furnished showing the extent to which improvements have been effected. Although there are probably more than two and a half million indigenous hand-looms at work in the country, they have never been subjected to careful tests and the information available about them is all of the rough and ready order. In the second section all the improved looms competed one against the other, but unfortunately the different types of looms were not equally well represented. The Salvation Army only put forward two looms and Mr. Churchill only one, and even then he was unable to strictly comply with the conditions laid down.

The five competitions of each section were the same for both sections and were as follow:—

1. To weave cloth of 20s count in both warp and weft, width of cloth one yard. Number of ends per inch 48. Number of picks per inch 48.
2. To weave cloth of 60s count in both warp and weft, width of cloth from 45 to 54 inches. Number of ends per inch 72. Number of picks per inch 72.
3. To weave cloth of 100s count in both warp and weft, width of cloth from 45 to 54 inches. Number of ends per inch 80. Number of picks per inch 80.
4. To weave Madras handkerchiefs 40s count in both warp and weft. Picks per inch 72. Ends per inch 72. Width one yard.
5. To weave Madras handkerchiefs 60s count in warp and 40s in weft. Picks per inch 108. Ends per inch 80. Width one yard.

All the weaving was "plain" and could be done with two treadles, in the first three classes only grey yarn was to be used; but the two classes of Madras handkerchiefs were chequered coloured work involving frequent changing on the shuttle and careful attention to the beating up of the weft to produce a satisfactory result.

In the original programme of the competition work was to commence of Monday morning at 8 O'clock and to continue throughout the week ending on Saturday afternoon at 5-30 P.M. The weavers were to work 7 hours a day, or 42 hours in all. The end of February was specially selected for the competition as being the time when rain was least likely to fall and some of the sheds provided for the looms were not made water tight. The unexpected happened and several heavy showers fell on the first day of the competition and damaged a number of warps of the "pit" looms. After some discussion it was decided to go on and to arrange for a second competition in the following week, all the warps for which sheds were to be provided by the Local Committee were to be of as uniform quality as possible.

Looms that failed.

The results of the the competitions are given in the tabular statement below. In both competitions the Japanese hand-looms were withdrawn; and in the first the Salvation Army looms were withdrawn as it was found that the warps were unsatisfactory. It may here be remarked that the quality of warps which the competitors supplied themselves with varied very much and the output of the looms were greatly influenced thereby. Generally speaking the Madras competitors provided much better warps than those brought from other parts of India, and there seems to be but little doubt thar in this important preliminary process to weaving practice in Southern India is far in advance of other Provinces. The results of the competition must be regarded as disappointing to those who are keenly interested in the resuscitation of the hand-loom industry, as they disclose the fact that as yet none of the newly introduced looms can claim to be a substantial improvement on the best models of the old English hand-loom as manufactured in Madras and exhibited by the Government Weaving Factory at Salem and by Mr. P. Theagaroy Chetty. This result confirms the conclusions arrived at after long trials in the Salem Weaving Factory as recorded in the account of the work done at that institution which was presented to the Surat Industrial Conference. The improvement of the hand loom is no simple task, and it is fairly evident that those who have assayed to do so, with the single exception of Mr. D. C. Churchill, do not possess the requisite experience of weaving and knowledge of mechanics combined with the necessary inventive faculty to enable them to attain success. The failure of the English manufacturers is not due to lack of technical skill, for their looms are wonderfully ingenious pieces of mechanism, but to almost complete ignorance of the Indian weaver and the conditions under which he works. A power-loom to run successfully must be driven at a uniform speed, but if a man is employed to work it, the supply of power is most irregular and it is hopeless, therefore to expect that a lightly made power-loom will make a good hand-loom. To obtain good results from the fly-shuttle loom the weaver must exercise a high degree of skill, and his arms and legs must work in complete co-ordination. During the competition the best weavers were able to attain a maximum rate of 140 picks per minute and they seemed able to keep working at 100 picks a minute indefinitely. Yet, when the cloth was measured up, only in one instance was the average speed over 70 picks per minute; and generally, even with good weavers and fair warps, the efficiency of picking was below 50 per cent. This result is nevertheless twice as good as the average rate of picking which has hitherto been obtained from the weavers in the factory at Salem.

New Looms.

In all the new looms an attempt is made to reduce the number of independent operations to be made by the weaver. In the fly-shuttle loom they are three: (1) forming the shed by the action of the feet on the treadles, (2) throwing the shuttle by jerking the picker string with the right hand, (3) beating up the weft by the slay moved with the left hand. In the Sayaji loom and the Salvation Army loom the picking motion is worked off the slay and the operations of the weaver reduced to two. On narrow coarse cloth this system does not work badly. It is certainly easier for the weaver to apply the power; and though, during the competition, the weavers at these looms could not pick as fast as did the men at the European pattern of hand-loom, this was possibly due to the fact that they were less skilful. But for fine counts with a large number of ends to the inch and close picking, there is no doubt that these looms are inferior. As pointed out by Mr. Churchill in his paper on "The Hand-loom in Ahmednagar," the driving mechanism comes into operation too late, and there is a tendency while beating back to catch the shuttle before it has passed through the shed. In addition, to obtain sufficient power to drive the shuttle, the slay has to be moved rapidly forward and brought to rest suddenly. The action is somewhat violent and conducive to irregularities which cannot fail to damage the warp. The wider the loom the more violently must the slay be pushed back to give the shuttle sufficient impetus to cross the warp, whereas it is obvious that the reverse would be desirable.

Improved Mechanism.

This method of driving the shuttle was employed by Mr. Churchill in the first hand-loom he produced, but he has now definitely abandoned it in favour of an entirely new design in which the weaver supplies the power, looks after the warp, changes the shuttle, and the loom does the rest. It is thus essentially a power-loom, but it differs from all other power-looms inasmuch as the rate of working is to some extent controlled by a spring, the action of which tends consequently to keep the weaver working at a uniform speed. This is undoubtedly a great advantage in a treadle-loom; and, as the mechanism is very light all the moving parts run on ball bearings. It is extremely easy to work, and the weaver is not unduly fatigued. As yet the loom has only been adjusted for coarse work; and, when exhibited in Madras during the competition, it was said to run at about 135 picks per minute. During a day's run the effective average was 104 picks per minute. This is certainly an improvement on any other hand-loom, and it remains to be seen whether it can work equally well on fine counts and much wider cloth. Apparently there should be no difficulty in this extension of its sphere of practical utility, but it is possible that it will be necessary to make it remain mainly of iron to secure permanence in the somewhat delicate adjustments between the various parts. Wood is not a very satisfactory material for a comparatively delicate mechanism, as it is liable to warp and to crack and is affected by the amount of moisture in the atmostphere. It is undoubtedly an improvement on power-loom adapted to hand-weaving, and it will probably prove a success in hand-loom weaving factories, but in the hands of individual weavers, it may prove beyond their capacity to keep in working order.

Value of the fly-shuttle.

It has been advocated by some that in the present condition of hand-weaving in India, it would be wise to move slowly and be content in the first instance with getting the fly-shuttle slay adopted generally. The cost of the change would be small and the improvement in rate of weaving considerable. On this point the weaving competition yielded but little information, as there were only three such looms entered, and the rain unfortunately damaged the warps on two of them, and the enterprising Sholapur weaver who brought them down had to withdraw them. The third loom worked on a very fine warp of 100s counts and made an average of 36 picks per minute in the first test and 34·5 in the second. On the frame looms in the first competition the best average was 29·3 picks per minute, but in the second competition three weavers averaged, respectively, 48·3, 47 and 40 picks per minute. The difference in the two results is entirely due to variations in the quality of the warp, and the very excellent result obtained in the country loom fitted with a fly-shuttle slay is to be attributed mainly to the very superior warp.

The European hand-loom, apart from the use of the fly-shuttle, differs from the country loom in the fact that it is self contained in a frame and that the warp is deemed, and this process of beaming involves a considerable amount of extra labour preliminary to weaving. Practically the native weaver performs an equivalent operation at intervals during the process of weaving, instead of getting it all done beforehand. Deducting the time thus lost, there is no reason why he should not attain the same average rate of picking as is obtained in frame looms with beam warps. In the competition a number of what were styled "improved pit looms" were entered, which were in reality frame looms, the longitudinal members of which were dispensed with by embedding the posts of the front and back frames very firmly in the ground. The system possesses the merit of cheapness, but the looms are in essentials frame looms. When allowance has been made for the labour expended in beaming, it is by no means definitely proved that the frame looms may turn out more cloths than can be manufactured in the same time on country looms with fly-shuttle slays. The quality of the work, however better and, as the frame loom can be fitted with an automatic take-up motion, great regularity in picking can easily be ensured. In all the classes of the competition devoted to plain weaving, the advantage derived from the employment of a take-up motion was very evident.

Some comparisons.

A detailed scrutiny of the tabulated results of the competition reveals some very useful information. First as the ratio of the work done on fly-shuttle looms and on country looms. The latter did not attempt the finest warps, but on those of 60s counts the best result was 17·5 picks per minute on cloth 43 inches wide, against 69·5 picks per minute on cloth 51·5 inches wide. That is, more than four times as much cloth was turned out. With warps of 20s counts and one yard wide, the ratio is 2·5, whilst on the Madras handkershiefs it is only 1·35. In this case it is probable that the low ratio is partly due to the superior skill of the weavers on the country looms, but for the most part the frequent changing of shuttles discounts the advantage of the latter method of picking. The wider the cloth the greater the gain due to the use of the fly-shuttle; and, in very wide work, such as turban cloths which are 9 feet wide, one weaver can easily work a fly-shuttle loom much faster than two men on a country loom. The results of the competition establish the fact that there is a great but variable degree of advantage in the use of the fly-shuttle. Roughly it may be taken as three to one.

The looms which did the best all round work in the competitions were those manufactured in Madras on the lines of the old English hand-loom. In the second competition, with counts of 100s the average rate of picking of the three best looms was 45 per minute, against 28 per minute in the single Sayaji Cottage loom which competed. With 60s counts of four looms averaged 55 picks per minute against 50·5 obtained in the Salvation Army loom and 36 in the Sayaji Cottage loom. With counts of 20s one of the looms from the Salem Weaving Factory averaged 63 picks per minute in both competitions, against 35 by the Sayaji Cottage loom and 37 by the Salvation Army loom. In the first competition a loom from Bengal of the Serampore pattern averaged 73 picks per minute with 42 ends to the inch; but in the second competition, working with a new reed with 52 ends to the inch, only 37 picks per minute were obtained. This result may have been due to differences in the quality of the warp, but the increase in the number of ends per inch also had much to do with it.

Results of the Competitions.

In reviewing the results of these competitions the question naturally arises-has the information been obtained that was sought for and, if so, what use can be made of it? Some valuable data have undoubtedly been collected which could have been obtained in no other way; but the conclusions deduced from them in the preceding paragraphs will by some scarcely be accepted as final. Those who competed had no preliminary arrangements, might have been greatly improved upon, so that the inventors of the new looms have gone away dissatisfied with themselves and still of opinion that their looms would have done better had things been otherwise. That the quality of warps exerted a pronounced influence on the results obtained with the looms is not to be disputed, and points to the necessity of greater attention to this preliminary process. It is fortunate, however, that a second competition was held when the warps supplied were of more uniform quality, and the results, therefore, more strictly comparable. As a final test of the merits of the different looms, the competitions have proved satisfactory, and we may claim now to be in a position to state definitely what type of loom may be best employed on a specified kind of work. In the paper on the Salem Weaving Factory already alluded to, figures are given as to the average output of the weavers in that factory and a comparison with those obtained in the competition shows that when a sufficient stimulus is employed, the weaver can without fatigue turn out more than twice as much work as he is willing to do at Salem even when working on liberal piece-work rates. If the Salem weavers would work at the same rate in the factory that they did during the competitions, there would be a good profit on the capital invested. Between the best of the competing looms the differences in output of coarse work are not much greater than would be expected where so much depends upon the skill of the-weaver, but for fine work the old English hand loom is unquestionably superior.

The Churchill Loom.

Looking as the writer does, to the development of hand loom weaving factories as the most desirable and the most probable solution of the Indian weaving problem, it must be confessed that the new loom invented by Mr. Churchill is an impediment to any immediate advance in this direction and yet a promise of their ultimate establishment. The loom possesses many valuable features, but it requires time and money to be spent on perfecting them. Apparently Mr. Churchill is not in a position to give his whole time to his loom, and the Missionary Society with which he is connected is unable to furnish him with the funds. As the loom is not patented, and its early completion would be of immense advantage to the hand loom industry, the provision of the pecuniary assistance can be confidently recommended as a way to contribute to the industrial development of the country second to none at the present time. With the possibility of such a loom being on the market in a year or two the capitalist would scarcely be likely to invest a large amount of money in any of the existing types of looms. The Churchill Loom promises twice the output of any other loom capable of being worked by Indian weavers, but it is hardly likely that in its final form it will be a suitable loom for weavers working independently. With an output that may be reckoned as six times that of the indigenous hand loom, special arrangements for warping will be necessary, and they will have to be supplied by a central factory even if the loom be worked in a weaver's house. A lakh or two devoted to the complete working out of all the details of this loom and the demonstration of its advantages to the weaving world would be well applied. It certainly seems a pity that ample opportunity should be denied Mr. Churchill to bring to early maturity an invention which holds out so much promise.

PROSPECTUS OF THE MYSORE DASARA INDUSTRIAL AND AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITION OF 1908.

Introductory.

With the sanction of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, the Committee issue the following prospectus in connection with the Exhibition of 1908.

2. Opening of the Exhibition.—This year the Exhibition will commence on Wednesday, 30th September, 1908, and close on Wednesday, 14th October, 1908. The cattle show will begin on Tuesday, 6th October, and close on Thursday 8th. From the experience of last year it may be observed that the show offers a good opportunity for people desirous of purchasing good specimens of Mysore cattle.

3. Object of the Exhibition.—The primary aim of the Committee is to impart to the Exhibition an educative character and to bring together articles, machinery, and processes the use of which it is desirable to bring to the notice of the raiyat, the artizan and the manufacturer by actual demonstration. But as the exhibition of solitary samples may not afford sufficient information and may not be attractive to the visiting public, articles intended for sale will also be admitted.

4. Articles on sale versus samples.—Articles on a large scale sent merely for sale will have to be kept in separate stalls and under the charge of the exhibitors or their agents. There is no objection to the sale of samples, but they will not be allowed to be removed from the Exhibition grounds till the termination of the show. Articles admitted for purposes of sale alone may be removed after purchase. But no article will be allowed to leave the Exhibition grounds without a gate pass.

5. Plan of the buildings.—A plan of the Exhibition grounds and buildings and the extent of covered and open space available is appended to this prospectus. Those who desire to have special facilities for the sale of articles or demonstration of processes are requested to place themselves in communication with the Secretary to the Exhibition Committee.

6. Lectures and Demonstrations.—Lectures will be delivered by competent persons in English and Kanarese on subjects connected with industry, agriculture, health and sanitation, the value of agricultural implements and machines, their cost, construction and repair. Arrangements will also be made for holding a competition on the Exhibition grounds in ploughing and weaving and processes connected therewith. The exact time and place of the lectures and demonstrations will be announced later on by handbills and notices.

7. Donations.—The Committee would thankfully accept donations for awarding prizes or medals from individuals or Associations desiring to give an impetus to any special branch of agriculture or industry.

8 Classification of Exhibits.—The Exhibition of 1908 will be confined to the main groups and sub-heads indicated in the prize list subjoined to this prospectus.

9. Open to all India —The Committee invite exhibits from all the Districts in the State as well as from outside. They also appeal to the various Agricultural Departments and Associations in other parts of India, Burma and Ceylon to help them with exhibits and suggestions.

10. Judges - Leading raiyats and non-official gentlemen will be invited to assist the Committee in judging the exhibits.

11. Admission fees for visitors.—An admission fee of annas two per head will be levied each time a person enters the Exhibition buildings. There will be no season tickets nor family tickets nor special tickets at half rates for pupils Only children in arms who are less than three years of age will be admitted free.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

1. Noxious Articles.—Explosives or any substance noxious or dangerous will not be admitted by the Committee.

2. Particulars re exhibits—Intending exhibitors are requested to send to the Secretary to the Exhibition Committee particulars of exhibits they intend to forward and the amount of space which their exhibits may take up in Form A appended to this prospectus. Printed forms may be obtained from the District, Divisional and Taluk offices, or from the Secretary to the Committee; plain paper of foolscap size may also be used provided all the headings in the form are properly copied and filled up.

3. Applications from exhibitors.—Applications in Form A should reach the Secretary to the Committee not later than 1st August 1908. Each application should contain a post card on which the address and post town of the exhibitor are legibly written.

4. Lists from Taluks.—Deputy Commissioners of Districts, Sub-Divisional Officers and Amildars of Taluks are requested to convene, as early as possible, a meeting of the leading artizans, raiyats and merchants residing within their respective charges, to explain to them fully the object and scope of the exhibition and to distribute to them forms of application, to have them filled up by intending exhibitors and to forward them to the Secretary to the Committee. This will give the Committee an idea of the total space required and enable the exhibitors to make a good choice of the exhibits by preventing a number of them from sending exhibits of the same quality and description.

5. Articles not enumerated.—The classified list of prizes will show the nature of articles which can compete at the exhibition. Articles not specially enumerated in the prize list may, however, be admitted by the Committee at their discretion.

6. No fees to be charged for exhibits.—No fees will be charged for the admission or registration of the exhibits or for the space allowed for them.

7. Acceptance of exhibits.—The Committee reserve to themselves absolute discretion as regards the acceptance and rejection of exhibits and the allotment of space covered or uncovered.

8. Delivery of exhibits.—Articles intended for the exhibition may be brought by the exhibitor or his agent or servant and delivered at the Exhibition ground or sent by post or railway or through the Deputy Commissioners of Districts.

9. Payment of freight and transport charges.—No exhibits in respect of which the necessary freight or transport charges have not been paid by the exhibitor, will be accepted by the Committee.

10. List of particulars.—All packages received or delivered and all implements and machinery intended for the exhibition must bear a label specifying the name and number of exhibits and the registered number of the exhibitor and must be addressed to the Secretary. They must contain a list, in duplicate, showing the name or description of the article, its price, the place of production or manufacture, name of the manufacturer or exhibitor. In the case of exhibits in the Agricultural section, essential particulars such as the season of sowing, the soil on which they are grown, the quantity of seed per acre, the manure used, whether any irrigation is required, the time required for the maturing of crop, the average yield per acre, and any other interesting details regarding cultivation should be given.

11. Exhibits which have already won prizes.—Exhibits which have won prizes or medals in the Mysore Exhibitions of 1906 and 1907 are precluded from competing for prizes, though there is no objection to their being accepted for purposes of show or sale.

12 Date of delivery of exhibits.—Intending exhibitors are requested to send the exhibit so as to reach Mysore on the 10th September 1908, from which date the Committee will arrange to take charge of exhibits. But no exhibits will be received after the 23rd September 1908.

13. Belated exhibits.—Articles that are not delivered at the Exhibition Hall in the time fixed may be admitted at the discretion of the Committee subsequent to the dates mentioned in para 12, but shall not be entitled to compete for prizes.

14. Perishable articles.—Vegetables, fruits, dairy produce, and other perishable articles, may, however, be delivered at the Exhibition Hall till 7 P.M., on 29th September 1908.

15. Admission of exhibits.—No exhibits will be admitted without a pass signed by the Secretary or members of the Committee on duty at the Exhibition grounds.

16. Responsibility of exhibitors.—Exhibitors will have to pay every expense of transit, delivery, fixing and removing their exhibits, and they must either personally or by their agents or servants superintend their reception and removal, in default of which the Committee reserve to themselves the right of doing whatever may be considered necessary, at the expense of the exhibitor.

17. Committee accept no responsibility.—No responsibility will be accepted by the Committee as to any damage or loss howsoever occurring.

18. Special facilities.—Exhibitors are requested to mention in their applications whether they wish to illustrate practically any processes of manufacture or the working of any implement or machinery, and if so, to state briefly the nature of the demonstration and any special facilities they require.

19. Special arrangement to be made at the exhibitor's expense.—If the exhibitors require any special arrangements to be made (or have to mount their machinery) they must carry them out at their own expense, but the Committee will be glad to give such aid as may be possible in the shape of getting skilled or unskilled manual labour at the exhibitor's expense. The expenses of demonstrating machinery and implements should be borne by the exhibitor except where special arrangements have been made with the Committee.

20. Valuable exhibits.—All valuable exhibits must be forwarded under the charge of an attendant.

21 Exhibits unaccompanied by men in charge.—Exhibitors who are unable to attend personally or send their agents in charge of exhibits may make special arrangements with the Committee for the exhibition of their goods on payment in advance in full of the estimated expense.

22. Weighing of exhibits.—The Committee entrust the work of receiving the exhibits to responsible officials. But as the goods are landed near the Exhibition grounds by special arrangement, it is not possible to weigh every consignment before taking delivery of it. So exhibitors are requested to take every possible precaution in packing their exhibits and to send to the Committee in time an accurate list of exhibits sent by them. Exhibitors who wish that their consignment should be weighed at the Railway Station before delivery should intimate their wish to the Secretary in time and remit in advance a special fee of one rupee on each consignment to be thus weighed.

23. Acknowledgment of exhibits.—Receipt of exhibits will be acknowledged by return of the duplicate list mentioned in para 10 to the exhibitor duly signed by the Secretary. No other kind of receipt will be sent. Any differences between the list and the articles actually received will be noted in the duplicate list.

24. Free pass to exhibitors.—In cases in which the owners themselves are in charge of exhibits, the necessary free pass will be given.

25. Free admission to bona fide raiyats and artizans.—Raiyats and artizans unable to pay fees, belonging to the Mysore State or from outside, who produce certificates of identification signed by their respective Taluk Officers in Form B appended to this prospectus, will be admitted free.

26. Space for exhibits on sale.—Accommodation will be found within the Exhibition grounds, as far as possible, for articles intended for sale. But those who wish to send articles on a large scale would do well to have temporary booths put up at their own cost in the Exhibition grounds, by previous arrangement with the Committee.

27. Commission on sale.—A commission of one anna in the rupee on all sales of exhibits conducted in the Exhibition stalls and grounds will be levied by the Committee from all exhibitors.

28. Articles on sale.—Articles on sale or articles sold should in every case have cards attached to them notifying the same.

29. Removal of exhibits.—All exhibits must be removed within a week after the close of the Exhibition. Exhibits remaining after that time will be disposed of as the Committee deem fit. Perishable articles will be allowed to be removed at the option of the owners or purchasers within 24 hours after the opening of the Exhibition.

30. Exhibits on loan.—Works of art and articles of special merit including those of antiquarian interest will be thankfully received. Gentlemen willing to lend them are requested to place themselves in communication with the Secretary, or any of the members of the Committee who will inform them of the acceptance of the offer and will make necessary arrangements in connection with the exhibition of the articles.

31. Exhibits belonging to any Department of Government.—Articles or cattle exhibited by any Department of Government will not be eligible for money prizes or medals, but may be awarded certificates of merit. This Rule does not preclude Government servants or pupils of Industrial Schools from competing for prizes if the exhibits are manufactured by themselves.

32. Admission of live-stock.—All cattle and sheep brought for the show will be located in a convenient place before the first selection and only such of the animals as are selected will be permitted to be picketed in the sheds provided at the show-yard according to breed, age and size, etc.

33. Accommodation for cattle.—Accommodation will be provided by the Committee free of cost for about 150 head of cattle.

34. Grant for fodder.—A sum of four annas will be given by the Committee for each head of cattle selected per day for fodder for the four days from 6th to 9th October (both inclusive).

35. Admission to the show grounds.—Only pass or ticket-holders will be allowed to the Show grounds, while the cattle are judged.

36. Animals which have won prizes.—No animal which has won a prize in previous years in the Mysore Exhibitions will be eligible for a prize.

37. Practical test.—Working cattle may, at the owner's option, be subjected to a practical test as to their powers of draught. They must be the bona fide property of the exhibitor.

38 Single bullocks will also be tested both for riding and draught purposes at the owner's option.

39. Caretaker.—Each animal or lot competing separately must be in charge of a caretaker who will remain in charge of the exhibit and must be ready to lead it out at any time as required by the Committee.

40. Distribution of prizes and medals.—Prizes and medals will be distributed at the close of the Exhibition. This year it is proposed to hold a distribution of prizes in the Exhibition grounds on or about the 12th October.

41. Number of Judges.—The Judges in each class or group will not be less than three, but no prizes will be awarded unless in the opinion of the Judges the exhibits merit the reward. Judges cannot compete for prizes in classes or sections in which they are Judges.

42. Photograph of articles exhibited.—No article exhibited may be copied, photographed, drawn or reproduced in any manner without the special permission of the exhibitor and the Committee. General photographs of the stalls may, however, be taken with the permission of the Committee.

44. Acceptance of rules.—All persons who become exhibitors shall be held to signify their assent to and acceptance of the foregoing rules and regulations, and also of such other rules as the Committee may hereafter issue, not inconsistent with these Regulations.

45. Communications regarding the Exhibition.—All communications regarding the Exhibition should be addressed to the Secretary to the Mysore Dasara Exhibition Committee and directed to Bangalore till 10th September 1908 and to Mysore after 10th September 1908.

BANGALORE,
24*th June* 1908.

A. RANGASWAMI IYENGAR,
Revenue Commissioner.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore.

Read—Letter No. 5863, dated the 3rd December 1907, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, submitting for orders with his opinion a copy of letter No. 392, dated the 21st November 1907, from the Deputy Commissioner of the Mysore District, enquiring whether Government Order No. R. 1684-93—L. R. 490-06-3, dated the 2nd September 1907, conveying instructions in the matter of the levy of the special cess of one anna on supari gardens, applies also to such gardens situated in Inam villages.

2. Letter No. 8811, dated the 17th February 1908, from the same officer, forwarding for orders copy of letter No. 441, dated the 1st February 1908, from the Deputy Commissioner of the Tumkur District, soliciting orders on the same point and also as to how the cess should be levied in cases where the survey assessment of the gardens is not ascertainable owing to the Inam villages not having been surveyed and settled, and whether those Inamdars who were entitled to the Halat levied on the supari exported from their Inam villages, are now entitled to a share in the cess.

ORDER THEREON.—The benefit accruing to the holders of supari gardens by the abolition of the halat on supari, ordered in Government Proceedings No. Fl. 6878-88, dated the 14th March 1907, is intended to reach the holders of Inam gardens as well, and the object of levying the special cess is to provide a fund for the scientific investigation of questions concerning supari cultivation, diseases to which supari is liable, etc., in which they are also interested. Government therefore agree with the Revenue Commissioner in thinking that there is no reason to exempt garden owners in Inam villages from payment of the cess.

2. In Inam villages into which Survey and Settlement have been introduced, such cess will be calculated as on Government Lands on the rates fixed for gardens in which supari is cultivated. In unsettled villages the average supari garden assessment prevailing in the nearest sirkar or settled Inam village will be adopted as the basis of the levy.

The cess will be collected from the Inamdars along with the jodi, and they will be entitled to recover the same from the raiyats concerned under Section 86 (b) of the Land Revenue Code.

3. The objects of the levy of halat and that of levying the new supari cess being quite distinct, Government agree in the opinion of the Revenue Commissioner that holders of Inam villages are not entitled to a share in the cess.
